Mr. S. B. Rose is scattering very attractive calendars and cards of the New York Mutual Life Insurance Company for which he is agent.

The passenger list of the Kikiki contains the names of two of Judge Eicken's sons, who are going to attend school at Seattle, Washington Territory.

Mr. Klein's last letter from Samoa, carried to San Francisco by himself, occupies with several illustrations nearly two pages of the Examiner of February 17th.

When the Morning Star was at the Gilbert Islands the formerly deposed King Malietoa of Samoa was there taking affairs cool in his native costume the male.

The Kinan brought back the American excursion party safe and sound from their visit to the volcano. They were well satisfied with the sublime fireworks of nature.

Attorney-General Ashford has postponed a contemplated health trip to the Coast, from last summer till one in April or May, on account of a press of official business.

Signor Campobello has decided upon opening an academy for vocal and instrumental music, and also for foreign languages. Persons desirous of taking private lessons will please address him at the Hawaiian Hotel, for the present.

High winds Tuesday evening gave promise of rain. In the meantime Superintendent Wilson has relieved the security of water in parts where it existed, by connecting the artesian with the reservoir system.

Hon. C. R. Bishop gave a reception at his residence on Emma street Thursday evening, to Hon. Elisha H. Allen, Hawaiian Consul-General at New York, and Mrs. Allen. The Royal Hawaiian Band played on the grounds.

Mr. F. H. Hayselden's bail bond of $1,000 for appearance, declared forfeit by the Supreme Court during his absence in the States, has never been prosecuted, nor is it likely to be by the Government, since he has returned and stood his trial.

The following is from a late China paper: A native of Hsiao Shan, who has lately returned from Honolulu with ample money, having raised at his expense a public school in his native place, is recommended to the Authorities for reward.

Lands containing 178 acres at Hanalei, Hawaii, were sold at the Government land building by auction Thursday, and bought for $834.50, or the upset price of $5.25 per acre, by T. H. Davies and Chas. Notley doing business as the Hanalei Plantation Company.

Our reporter Tuesday inspected Mr. Hutchinson's bust of Mr. Wm. Auld, cast in plaster from the clay model previously noticed. It has been touched up by the sculptor until it is more expressive than the model. Of a terra cotta that it makes a fine work of art, and it is hoped will be exhibited down town shortly.

Officers of the People's Ice and Refrigerator Company have been elected for the ensuing year as follows: Mr. J. K. Wilder, President; Hon. W. W. Hall, Vice-President; Hon. W. E. Foster, Secretary; Mr. W. E. Wall, Treasurer; Hon. W. O. Smith, Auditor—all the above constituting a board of directors.

Mr. Masche, collector for the Hawaiian Business Agency, started on a tour round this island Tuesday. In crossing the Pali a violent gust of wind upset his buggy and damaged it somewhat. He managed to reach Kaneohe, however, as the telephone message about the accident came from that place.

Elder Tay, a S. D. A. missionary who was waiting at Tahiti for passage to Pitcairn Island by the schooner Phoebe Chapman, hence July 31st for the South Seas, arrived in San Francisco lately. He reported that the schooner had not reached Tahiti yet till January 12th when he left, and word had been received from Pitcairn Island that she had not been there either.

The New York Maritime Exchange has received information from Washington that Germany, France, Spain, Italy, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, the Netherlands, Brazil, Chile, Uruguay, Great Britain, Japan and Hawaiian Islands have agreed to send representatives to the International Conference at which it is proposed to change the "rule of the road" signals at sea.

Among other matters of division in the Anglican communion here is that of the right of way to Beretania street. The old board of trustees that resigned lately made an arrangement with Mr. Cummins whereby, by granting a strip of ground adjoining, he gave the church a perpetual right of way thirty feet wide. There was a shapely fence put up in accordance with this arrangement, but the Bishop being opposed, to the bargain a man was set to work on Tuesday to pull the fence down.

Capt. Garland of the Morning Star brings definite news of the wreck of the Canadian ship Rock Terrace. She was abandoned at Guam Island 10 deg. N., then went adrift and floated about ten days to September. Finally, after traveling 2,000 miles, she struck on Taro Island, in the Gilbert group, all her masts and rigging standing in good order. She would have made a grand prize then for a salvage crew, but has since gone completely to smash. The natives secured most of the cargo of kerosene oil that the Rock Terrace sailed with from Philadelphia for Manila.

The Walla Walla comes next after the Mariposa.

Mr. Hutchinson's bust of Mr. William Auld is on exhibition at Messrs. King Bros', art store, Hotel street.

Mr. Dick Brash was showing in this office Thursday evening a remarkably large specimen of the "moa" fish, which he got at the Fish Market. It is seven inches long, one and three-quarters deep and two and a quarter wide on the bottom. This queer fish has some likeness in miniature to a ship of the Merimae type.

At the annual meeting of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company re-elected its entire executive, viz.: Mr. T. R. Foster, President; Captain W. B. Godfrey, Vice-President; Hon. J. Ena, Secretary; Mr. W. H. McLean, Treasurer; Mr. P. C. Jones, Auditor; Messrs. T. R. Foster, G. N. Wilcox, W. B. Godfrey and J. Ena, Directors.

The monthly meeting of the Board of Representatives of the Fire Department, Chief Engineer Wilson presiding, was held Thursday night. No business of public importance was dispatched. An important matter to firemen was introduced; in the shape of a suggestion to start a "Firemen's Sick Benefit Fund." Benefits are now paid out of the sick fund for injuries sustained by firemen on duty.

On Saturday about noon two Chinamen were observed prowling about Mr. J. A. Gonsalves' photographic show room on Fort street. Shortly after a plumb bag containing $50 cash and $100 worth of jewelry was missed from the room. The police and press were immediately notified of the robbery. Mr. Gonsalves is absent on Maui, his wife and sister-in-law being left in charge.

Vice Consul Blacklock has issued a proclamation, prohibiting all citizens of the United States from selling or supplying intoxicating liquors to Samoans or any other islanders of the South Pacific, without an order from a person permitted to give such an order. Sir J. B. Thurston, Governor of the South and West Pacific, has similarly prohibited all British subjects within his jurisdiction.

The Boston Advertiser, Feb. 6, reports the first annual exhibition of the Channing Hall School held the previous day. Among pupils from these islands mentioned are May Mott Smith, reciting "The Land of Nod," and H. M. Mott Smith, participating in a Shakespearean representation. A. S. Knudsen took a second gold medal; May H. Mott Smith the Whittaker prize, a medal for excellence in Shakespearean reading.

Messrs. McCandless Bros. have struck water in the new artesian well for Judge McCully above his residence. The flow is twenty-six inches above the pipe and they expect thirty-six inches before finishing, which will be the largest flow in the Kingdom. The water will be used in irrigating rice fields in the vicinity. Wednesday the well boring by McCandless Bros. for Judge McCully was pushed farther, increasing the flow. It throws water three and a half feet high from the mouth of a 7 1/2 inch pipe. The flow rushes and roars through a three foot wide ditch like a mill race. This well is one of the signs now that everybody should see. Its capacity is estimated at three or four million gallons a day, or enough to supply the city's population with water. It has been named the Saint Agnes, after the wife of Chief Justice Judd.

The brigantine W. G. Irwin soon due has forty mules for this port.

Messrs. J. E. Brown & Co. have in two days sold $1,400 worth of tickets to Portuguese for their native Azores.

Mr. Thos. G. Thrum has a comprehensive business announcement in this paper, which none who buy goods in any of the lines mentioned can afford to skip.

AN AERIAL FLIGHT.

Ballooning Melville Makes a Plucky Attempt to Rise!

Notwithstanding that not one in a thousand could be found on Saturday who would confess to a belief that the balloon would go up, several thousands of every race, condition, class and age gathered in and about Hon. J. I. Dowsett's paddock at Iwilei on Saturday afternoon to see Prof. Melville inflate his sky-exploring craft and do the cloud-jumping act. Hundreds of people also gathered at points of vantage on shipping, house and hill tops for the like gratification of curiosity or possible resolving of doubts.

"There could not have been a better day," was the universal remark, suggested by the very slight stir in the air and such motion as there was being off the sea. The balloon filled up beautifully—was in fact every moment looking more like an article of that name—until it had about three-fourths of its capacity-charged with concentrated caloric and smoke. But the wind was gaining on the furnace, and, at this juncture, the floppings of the fabric became painfully suggestive of a hizzle like to that of the previous Saturday. Prof. Melville was everywhere within and without the balloon at the same moment, apparently, and now on the outside he shouts: "Harry, look out what you're doing in there when she's working. But give it to her every time she's steady!"

The furnace roars once and again, and next thing the aeronaut thunders out, "All let go!" The guys are loosed all round, holding posts have been let down, and away the monster creeps laterally from the furnace. Not, however, before a huge scorching patch is seen on the windward side, while smoke streams in two blue-black currents from vents at the summit.

Still off she goes and then up, only the spectators in the inner rings observing the gallant Professor Melville dragging headmost to the trapeze—he had no time to fasten on the parachute. Up through the wicked spikes of the young algebric thicket the aeronaut was dragged, emerging in clear space above suspended by hands and heels to the bar. Then away on the breeze the couple went, clearing the roof of a cottage and moving in the direction of the big fish pond beyond.

Now the balloon is fast sinking with the man's weight. It disappears behind the bush and almost immediately soars majestically aloft, but there is no man dangling from the trapeze. Some stand still to watch the flight of the balloon, but a great rush is made to find what has happened the balloonist. Others watch and run at once.

The runners are seen to concentrate in thick ranks on the bank of a four-foot ditch in the great taro patches seaward from King street. Our reporter found Prof. Melville wedged by the crowd as if to prevent him getting a breath of air, but he stood upright and smiling through begrimed features stained with blood. His clothes, head and face had suffered in many places from contact with the thorns. Eyewitnesses said he had jumped thirty feet to the earth, turning a somersault like a cat to land on his feet. He could not say himself how high had been the leap, but to show how light he felt the result he sprang across the ditch and walked nimbly to the starting point. There he was cheered heartily by the crowd. His left wrist was sprained in the leap from aloft. The firm turf was pierced several inches by his feet, and it is wonderful he was so little hurt. It was about three hundred yards along the ground from start to finish by the aeronaut.

The balloon travelled grandly about 200 feet above the ground, until away up Nuuanu valley it tumbled over on its side and sank behind the trees. It barely passed the stove pipe on the kitchen of Mr. David Dayton's residence, below Liliha street and between Judd and School streets, and landed on the premises of a Chinaman just beyond. All the damage the balloon sustained was in the slight scorching and the rents above referred to. Mr. Dayton's little daughter ran away from the approach of the aerial visitor, in terror of its smoking mouth and eyes. His boy of ten or twelve years, however, pursued the monster across lots and was the first in "at the death."

It has been suggested that the Professor might be induced to attempt an ascension as one of the attractions at the Park next Saturday.

Mr. F. Godfrey had a fresh set of his advertising flyers provided for Saturday, in order to keep faith with the patrons of that enterprising scheme, "memento of the highest advertising ever attempted in the Hawaiian Islands." The souvenirs flew round lively if they were not "dropped from the clouds."

An Airy Joke.

A dodger was joked on Friday containing the following wild aerial statements:

"The balloon ascension will take place this Saturday afternoon, March 9th, rain or sunshine.

Having but a few days to remain in Honolulu, prior to my departure for the Coast, and also at the special request of many prominent citizens, I will make the above ascension, without deceiving the public, at the Makiki recreation grounds at 2 p. m. sharp.

Breezes or hurricanes, conveyances will carry passengers to and from the grounds at nominal prices, free if necessary.

Admission: Your presence only.

T. B. EDWARDS, Aeronaut.

Just arrived from Samoa per Morning Star. May be interviewed at the hotel with regard to the agency. Apply immediately.

T. B. E."

POLICE COURT.

A Heavy Docket—Sentence of a Chinese Vagrant—A Blanket Thief.

Aila was arraigned before Police Justice Foster on Monday morning, charged with the murder of Louis Johnson at Waialua on December 30th, 1888. A. Rosa for defendant, who is remanded by consent till Wednesday.

Keliikula and Joe Malihiolani pleaded guilty and not guilty respectively to the charge of affray. The former is fined $10 and costs, the latter on conviction $15 and costs.

Ah Yan, assault and battery on Kamaka, $11 20.

Huiko, vagrancy. V. V. Ashford and A. P. Peterson assist the Crown; J. L. Kaulukou for the defendant. Several Chinese merchants testified to defendant's loafing habits. Captain Alapai gave evidence of his acting as an informer to the police, and being employed some months ago in a soup house. Being found guilty defendant is sentenced to forty days' hard labor and to pay $40 costs.

Kekewa, violating carriage regulations, $15.

Twenty-three defendants are fined or forfeit $5 each for drunkenness, and a twenty-fourth, second offense within two months, is fined $13.

Hipa, larceny of a blanket worth $1 from the Hawaiian Government, is sentenced to hard labor one month and to pay $3 costs.

William Vernon has $2 to pay for assault on a Chinaman.

Discharge of a Drunken Policeman—A Conspiracy Case.

Kalili was called for drunkenness on Tuesday, and failing to appear his bail of $6 was declared forfeited. Kamana, police officer, testified that Kalili was a police officer and he saw him drunk the day before on Richards street. Upon request of the Deputy Marshal, defendant is ordered discharged from the police force.

Tin Choy is charged with conspiracy, in concerting with Lam You to bring a false charge of keeping a disorderly house against Yun See. On a previous hearing it was recorded that Lam You could not be found. P. Neumann and C. L. Carter assist prosecution; V. V. Ashford for defendant. The prosecuting witness gave testimony at great length, after which the case was continued till Wednesday. Her testimony was very hard on three native policemen, showing outrageous treatment of her by them in her own house. That is, however, only one side of the case. Another interesting point revealed by the woman was that she was bought in the regular Chinese way by her husband for marriage, and the latter ceremony was performed by means of a document called a "horoscope."

Leong Pung was committed for trial for gross cheat to the Supreme Court, on evidence that he drew $50 from Wells, Fargo & Co.'s office which he was not entitled to. On a second charge of the same offense he was remanded.

John Henson, James Campions and Malloy, drunk, forfeited $6 bail each.

Assaulting a Chinaman—Examination for Murder.

Wm. O'Brien was convicted on Wednesday of assault and battery on Ah Sam and fined $11 30.

Aila's examination, for committal or otherwise, on the charge of murdering Louis Johnson at Waialua, was begun. A. Rosa for defendant. Dr. L. F. Alvarez gave evidence as to the condition of the body when he examined it. Johnson died of hemorrhage from a gunshot wound. That produced tearing of blood vessels in four places in the vital organs, the tearing in any one case being sufficient to cause death. The doctor could not swear at what angle the bullet was discharged. It entered the body in an oblique direction. Defendant was remanded till Thursday.

Ah Fook, defended by V. V. Ashford, was acquitted of the charge of stealing $6.

Chas. B. Bow, Palahia and Louis de Jose, drunk, $6 each.

Thursday's Record—Committed for Serious Assault.

Burnard pleaded not guilty but was convicted of assault and battery on Anin, and fined $2.30.

Shar Lum's trial was proceeded with on the 5th inst., and being found guilty is sentenced to be imprisoned at hard labor 60 days and to pay $4.70 costs for vagrancy.

Ah Tai was brought up on remand for assault and battery. Paul Neumann assisting prosecution; A. Rosa for defendant. It appeared he had thrown irritating material in complainant's eyes, besides hitting him with lead knuckles. He was committed for trial to the Supreme Court, as Police Justice Foster considered the punishment within his jurisdiction to inflict would be inadequate. For a second charge of assault Ah Tai was remanded.

Daniel Bone, R. S. Scrimgeour, Geo. Richardson and Driscoll, drunk, $6 each.

Ah Chee pleading guilty to possession of opium, was sentenced to one hour's imprisonment and to pay $51.

Ah Yon, driving drag without a license, $26.

On Friday Shun Kiang was nolle prosequed on a charge of using bad language.

Bila, drunk, $6.

Antone Freitas, pleading guilty to larceny of four tins salmon from Oceanic Steamship Company's wharf, was sentenced to twelve hours' imprisonment and to pay $1 costs. John Silva, pleading guilty to larceny of $1 worth of salt fish from the same place, received a similar sentence to the above.

Ah Ling, for leaving his licensed hack untied in front of the Cosmopolitan Saloon, was fined $11.

Kamann, deserting Wilder's Steamship Company's service, was ordered to return and pay costs.

The Railroad Started.

Work was started on the Oahu Railway at 4 o'clock on Friday afternoon, at Moanalua, and also near Waller's. The ceremony of turning the first sod was performed by Master Harold Dillingham. Construction operations began in earnest next day.
